

AVIATION MANAGEMENT, B.B.A.

Students graduating with an aviation management degree may manage airports, airlines, or any other company in the aviation area. They may be able to hold higher-level positions in areas of safety and security, operations, finance, marketing, and human resources.

The Aviation Management major is a 24-credit hour major in the Lewis College of Business. The curriculum incorporates management courses from the College of Business, aviation classes from the Division of Aviation, and two specific College of Business aviation management courses.

 - General Education Course

 - Milestone course: a key success marker for your major. See your advisor to discuss the importance of this course in your plan of study.

The Core Curriculum is designed to foster critical thinking skills and introduce students to basic domains of thinking that transcend disciplines. The Core applies to all majors. Information on specific classes in the Core can be found at <https://www.marshall.edu/gened/>.
