The Regents Bachelor of Arts degree program (RBA) is a nontraditional program designed for the adult student. It has several differences from other baccalaureate degree programs. While the program provides the RBA student with a sound general educational foundation, there are no required major courses. Instead, with the assistance of an advisor, a student creates the course plan that best fits his or her individual needs. Students in the program have the opportunity to request College Equivalent Credits (CEC's) for documented course-level learning resulting from life and work experiences. Examples of CEC credit may include military credits, standard awards for certain licenses, certifications and corporate training, CLEP and DSST examinations, and portfolio petitions for credit.

All failing grades received four years or more before admission to the program may be forgiven and disregarded in the calculation of the GPA required for graduation. (Note: If failing grades are forgiven the student will not be eligible for university-level honors. Academic forgiveness may only be done once and it only pertains to graduating from the RBA program, not to admission to other programs.)

General Education Requirements

36 semester hours (including applicable CEC general education hours) distributed among the following categories:

- Communications – 6 semester hours
- Natural or physical sciences – 3 semester hours
- Mathematics/Computers – 3 semester hours
- Social Sciences – 6 semester hours
- Humanities – 6 semester hours
- Additional approved 3 credit hours from natural or physical sciences or mathematics or computers
- Additional approved credit hours from any of the above categories – 9 semester hours

While RBA students do not declare a major, they may earn a minor in any academic program offered at Marshall by following the minor requirements of that program.

The RBA staff assists students in all aspects of their college needs: admission, program design, course selection, enrollment, assessment for CEC's, and many other factors.

Areas of Emphasis: Marshall University Regents Bachelor of Arts

An Area of Emphasis gives RBA students the opportunity to show a focus as part of the RBA degree. Areas of Emphasis are not required for the degree and are not all available online. An RBA area of emphasis, by state statute, requires a minimum of 15 hours of 300-400 level courses with a C or higher for each course. Substitutions are only allowed with the appropriate department's written permission. The most current list of Areas of Emphasis is found on the RBA website <https://www.marshall.edu/rba/> or by contacting the RBA office. CEC's may not be used in completing an Area of Emphasis.

Admission

- The student must meet all general Marshall University admission requirements
- The student must be at least 4 years out of high school. For those students who passed the GED, admission must be at least 4 years after their class graduated from high school. No person out of high school fewer than 4 years will be admitted.

Students who have already completed a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution of higher learning may not pursue the RBA degree.

The RBA degree by state statute is a degree completion program and students may not double major in the RBA or use it as a subsequent degree.
